Rail Trail Rambles re-imagined

Spokes & Species is an innovative community celebration presented by Friends of the Rail Trail, (FoRT), starting at - 10 a.m. Sunday, June 7 on the Haliburton County Rail Trail - from the Lochlin Community Centre. As the name suggests it combines elements of bikes and biodiversity; specifically an opportunity to try out a "fatbike" a new type of bicycle that is absolutely ideal for the Rail Trail – and a chance to learn all kinds of interesting aspects of wild edibles.

This free event rekindles the Sunday Rambles series that was popular on the Haliburton Rail Trail for five years until 2012. Spokes and Species will be co-led by local wild edibles enthusiast Carolyn Langdon and Pamela Marsales, leader of more than 50 Sunday Rambles and heritage cycling tours.

The fatbikes are from Algonquin Outfitters' main store in Huntsville and will be delivered by AO employee, independent biketour operator and cycling phenom Randy Pielsticker. Randy has ridden the Tour D'Afrique and embarked on epic cross-country expeditions all over the world. "I'm happy to introduce fatbikes anywhere, anytime – especially since it gets me out of the store for the day," says Randy.

Langdon will illustrate the naturalized, introduced species found in abundance along the publicly owned Rail Trail, in contrast to indigenous wild edibles typically found in sensitive forest settings. Ethical understanding and 100 per cent positive species identification are important elements of safe and responsible wild edibles enjoyment. Langdon says that, "all kinds of plants that flourish in the disturbed gravel and full sun of the trailside would be considered – weeds in your garden. And these so called 'weeds' are surprisingly nutritious and tasty. While they may not be native they have established themselves as an essential part of the biodiversity adjacent to the railway roadbed built in 1878," adds Langdon

Fatbikes have surged in popularity in recent years, primarily with mountain bikers riding them on snow trails to practice their sport year round. The four-inch wide balloon tires are ideal for gliding over the sandy, stony surface of Haliburton's Rail Trail. They track straight through anything that would bog down other bike tires or cause them to fishtail. Fatbikes look cartoonish – and they are just plain fun to ride! They are guaranteed to make people – any age – feel like a kid again, "which is why I'm delighted to invite anyone to (re)discover the delights of riding the scenic HCRT, my favourite rail trail in Ontario," says Pamela Marsales.

Pamela Marsales, left, and Carolyn Langdon are leaders of Spokes and Species, a new kind of Rail Trail Ramble on Sunday, June 7. The event will introduce fatbikes, provided by Algonquin Outfitters –the perfect kind of bicycle for the soft surface of the trail The event celebrates International Biodiversity Day and also examines how wild edibles fit into surrounding ecology. Photo submitted

Spokes and Species is an official event celebrating International Biodiversity Day made possible through funding from BEAN, Biodiversity Educational Awareness Network. How wild edibles fit into their surrounding ecology is especially relevant to the topic of biodiversity. How they have been utilized by first nations' cultures, pioneers to Haliburton and today's foodie enthusiasts are all part of this story.

Spokes and Species is part of the Toronto to Algonquin's "Animating the Greenway" project, eligible for matching funds from a Community Innovation grant from HCDC, Haliburton County Development Corporation. Toronto to Algonquin Greenway or TAG for short and Friends of the Rail Trail (FoRT) are both initiatives of the Haliburton County Community Co-operative. The Haliburton County Rail Trail is a central component of the Toronto to Algonquin Greenway's identified 400+ km hike, bike, and paddle route. TAG links existing parks, excursion routes and six rail trails to invite discovery of Ontario's scenery, heritage and hospitality.

Event Details:

Participants will start out on foot for the guided wild edibles talk, and take turns trying out the fatbikes along the way. Meet at Lochlin Community Centre, 4713 Gelert Rd (County Rd 1), Sunday, June 7, adequately prepared to Ramble at 10 am. Planning checklist: water and a snack, sunscreen, hat, insect repellant, proper footwear, etc.

Pre-registration is requested, to ensure a smooth event.

Please call or text Pamela at 705 457-4767 or email Pamela.Marsales@gmail.com

The Pollen Vortex – six tips for surviving allergy season

Allergy experts in Canada and the United States are warning that we could be heading into one of North America's worst allergy seasons in memory.

A combination of factors – including a cold, snowy winter and a delayed spring – means that all the season's pollen could arrive at once instead of the usual staged release by different tree species and grasses.

For Ontarians with allergic asthma, the high pollen count means breathing difficulties on top of the usual misery of watery eyes, itchy throat and sneezing.

Here are six tips from the Ontario Lung Association to help you get through the allergy season.

1. Plan your day to avoid peak pollen. Levels are higher in the morning and when it is hot, dry, sunny and windy.

2. Check pollen levels and forecasts regularly. The Weather Network and its website – www.weather.ca – provide pollen forecasts for major centres.

3. Try to stay indoors when pollen levels are high and keep your home and car windows closed. Ask someone else to do the gardening and outdoor chores until the pollen count falls.

4. Pollen accumulates on clothes hanging outside to dry. Hang clothes indoors or use a dryer.

5. If you've been outside when the pollen count is high, take a quick shower to wash it off and change into fresh clothes.

6. If you're planting trees on your property, remember that it's the male trees that produce pollen and make life miserable for people with allergies.

For information about dealing with allergies or any other lung health issue, speak to a certified respiratory educator on The Lung Association Lung Health Information Line at 1-888-344-LUNG (5864) or email info@on.lung.ca.

Colin and Justin coming to Home and Cottage Show

By Jenn Watt

TV hosts Colin McAllister and Justin Ryan have become semi-regular parts of Haliburton life now that they've renovated a cottage on Drag Lake for their show Cabin Pressure.

When they're in the county, hardly a day goes by without someone tweeting out a photo with them at a local restaurant or shop.

"We live there," said McAllister in an interview. "We're not going to sit in our cottage like recluses."

McAllister and Ryan are the stars of the Cottage Life show Cabin Pressure with Colin and Justin. On Sunday, the network aired episode 11 of the 13-episode season, which was filmed in the Haliburton Highlands as the pair bought and renovated an old cottage.

Along the way, they visited many familiar sites including the Thrift Warehouse in Haliburton, the antique barn in Gelert and Earth and Fire Pottery in Carnarvon.

On May 30, the pair will be at the Home and Cottage Show in Haliburton at the Greg Brown Construction booth and touring the rest of the show.

After this season is complete, McAllister says he's not sure if they will buy another cottage. The first season was about them buying a cottage with friends in Muskoka, which they quickly learned was not the type of ownership they preferred. This season, they bought a cottage they intend to keep.

The pair live in Toronto and are originally from the U.K., but rapidly absorbed cottage culture and say they understand why Canadians are so attached to cottaging.

"I honestly wouldn't be without it," says McAllister. "You don't need a massage, a health club or a spa, you just need a cottage."

Cabin Pressure is on Cottage Life TV Sundays at 9 p.m. Currently the network is on free preview, meaning you can get it through your cable provider even if you're not subscribed to the channel. Past episodes can also be watched online at CottageLife.com. Both seasons can be downloaded on iTunes.

Grannies to Grannies holding tea fundraiser

By Joan Stinson

The Grannies to Grannies was founded as a group in Haliburton Highlands by Mickey Bonham and Sue Reid with friends. They had met in Sue's kitchen and watched the International AIDS Conference which was held in Toronto in 2006, and were inspired to help raise funds in support of the African grandmothers and their orphaned grandchildren – more than a million children were orphaned by AIDS.

The Grandmothers has since evolved with more than 240 Grandmothers groups across the country with the Stephen Lewis Foundation.

The Haliburton Highlands Grannies are in their eighth year and have raised more than $68,293 for this cause. They have two fundraisers a year.

This year the venue for the Grannies Tea will be the Haliburton Legion on Sunday, June 7 from 2 to 4 p.m. You will be served a lovely lunch and then the fun begins. The event includes a loonie auction, door prizes, plant sale and African market place.

Tickets $12. Call Gayle in Minden, 705-286-3411, - Norma in Haliburton, 705-457-2015.

Our thanks for helping us to talk about Grannies to Grannies and what they stand for.

Feel the rhythm of the djembe

By Darren Lum

The facilitator Gillian Thomas, left, plays a drum with Annette Schumacher during the Dorset African Hand Drumming Classes and Drum Circle on Wednesday, May 13.

There's an unmistakable, physical feeling sitting in the gymnasium of the Dorset Recreation Centre during the Dorset African Hand Drumming Class and Drum Circle last Wednesday.

You can feel the sound from the African djembes and the djun djuns reverberating in your chest, as five drummers and their facilitator, Gillian Thomas, play Moribyassa – a song of renewal with West African origins.

Thomas has held this weekly circle for four years. She and the others readily welcome seasonal and new drummers.

She teaches the basics and gets participants up to speed quickly.

There are three main methods of striking the drum.

One: using the flat of the hand to strike the middle for bass. Two: using the fingers together and striking the drum for tone. And, three: slapping the drum by bringing the pad of the hand to the outside edge, followed by splaying the fingers for a "brighter tone" sound.

Weekly classes are held every Wednesday from 10 to 11 a.m. and is open to all abilities. Registration is required and the cost is $10 per class for adults and $5 for children 12 and under, who must be accompanied by an adult. Contact Gillian at 705-571-2539 for more information.

Book focuses on local families

The extensive family genealogies in the Highland Grove Historical Society archives has started to be captured in hardcover books. The first book focused on the Chrysler-Drury-Hughey families.

Bonnie (Hughey) West, instrumental in forming the historical society, provided numerous photographs to enrich the genealogy.

Starting at 1845, the 70-page book depicts the Chrysler family and their descendents to the present day. Heritage buildings, school photographs, weddings, family reunions, farm animals and even family pets form snapshots of the past.

The society is working on the history of the Deer Lake Cemetery, veterans and heritage buildings.

In addition, a joint project through the federally funded New Horizons for Seniors program will encourage seniors to capture, promote and preserve the culture and heritage of Highlands East through collaboration between three volunteer heritage organizations – The Wilberforce Heritage Guild, The Schoolhouse Historical Society and the Gooderham Historic Group.

Release a butterfly and send out a wish

By Angelica Blenich

There is a native story that says you can whisper a wish to a butterfly and the butterfly will take the wish to wherever it needs to go.

On June 14 wishes will be sent far and wide as more than 200 butterflies will be released at the inaugural Release of the Butterflies event hosted by SIRCH at the Minden Hills Cultural Centre.

In support of the organization's bereavement program, the fundraiser will see Painted Lady butterflies, which resemble a Monarch but are slightly smaller, set forth into the air by members of the community.

Co-ordinator of the bereavement program, Marilyn Rydberg is hoping the event becomes an annual tradition.

The idea for the fundraiser spawned from a similar initiative done in London, Ont. in support of bereavement services, said Rydberg.

The butterflies used for the event came from a farm in Lakefield, a neighbour of Haliburton County.

The program co-ordinator is hoping the event will give the public a sense of celebration, whether through remembering a past loved one or supporting someone grieving.

Cindy Trapp of the Investors Group, centre, presents a $1,000 donation to SIRCH's Marilyn Rydberg, left, and Wendy Iles in support of the upcoming Release of the Butterflies, scheduled for June 14. / ANGELICA BLENICH Staff

"There's all kind of mystical things around butterflies," said Rydberg. "We thought it was something that could be really special and it's never been done in Haliburton before."

SIRCH is aiming to raise $15,000 from the event and has received about $10,000 in corporate donations thus far.

"We really appreciate support from corporate donors," said Rydberg.

Money raised from the event will go towards the ongoing bereavement program, which receives no base funding.

"Everything has to be fundraised in order to keep it going," she said. "The program itself has been very successful. We started it a year ago and since then we've been running three different levels of groups and offering support to the community."

For a $30 donation you will receive one butterfly to release, or four for $100. Butterfly orders need to be in by May 28.

"I would say over 200 butterflies will be released on the day," said Rydberg.

Individuals who purchase a butterfly can release them or ask a friend or family member to release them on their behalf.

"Sometimes people have ordered butterflies in memory of someone," said Rydberg. "It's going to be a fun event."

Aside from the butterflies, the June 14 event will have live music provided by Custom Blend, a picnic lunch from Rhubarb (at a cost of $5) and children's activities such as face painting. The event is rain or shine and takes place at 1 p.m.

For more information on the event, visit www.sirch.on.ca, where there are donation forms available to download.

You can call SIRCH at 705-457-1742 or stop in at their office located at 4663 County Road 21.

Be prepared for an emergency

Hydro One wants to remind you and your family of the importance of being prepared in case of an extended power outage caused by severe weather.

Take the time to prepared your 72 hour emergency kit and test your emergency plan.

Use our emergency preparedness video or the list below to get you started on what you should have in your emergency kit in case of an extended power outage.

- Water (recommend 2L per person/day)
- Canned or dried food that won't spoil
- A manual can opener
- Windup or battery powered flashlight
- Windup or battery powered radio
- Batteries for your flashlight and radio
- Cash
- Any medical items you require
- Blanket
- Candles
- Matches
- First Aid Kit
- Hydro One's emergency power outage hotline number – 1-800-434-1235 and download our power outage app to your smart phone.

Ensure you have at least one corded phone at home; a cordless phone will not work in a power outage. Keep your emergency kit in a backpack and make sure everyone in your home knows where to find it.

Tracking power outages

For outage updates, download Hydro One's free mobile app on smartphone and tablet devices or check the online outage map at HydroOne.com. Customers can check the status of power outages anywhere in Hydro One's service area and receive helpful tips and news.

What to do in a power outage

If the power system in your area is affected by bad weather, be sure to stay clear of any fallen power lines. If you spot a fallen line, keep at least 10 metres back, even if it does not appear to be live. Report it to the police and call Hydro One at 1-800-434-1235. Safety is at the core of everything Hydro One employees do. Not only are our crews trained in First Aid, every Hydro One vehicle is equipped with a First Aid kit.

Small business advice

Greg Cholkan
The Law Talkin' Guy

A few months ago, I had the pleasure of meeting a number of entrepreneurs at an event in Minden hosted by the Haliburton Highlands Young Professionals Network. Some of them felt that getting legal advice is a daunting task and that it costs an arm and a leg just to sit down with a lawyer to have a chat about their business's needs (not necessarily true, by the way). For those who share this concern, I'll offer some free advice on a question common to many young entrepreneurs: is it worth incorporating my small business?

There are several pros and cons of incorporation. Tax flexibility is one of the main potential benefits. On the other hand, it costs money to incorporate a business. There is one pro, however, that is often misunderstood. As stated in an article in The Globe and Mail: "Your business is a separate legal entity and as such, creditors or legal actions go against your corporation and its assets, not your personal assets."

While this is true to a degree, it isn't always the case – sometimes a company's shareholders or directors will be held personally liable for their actions. As stated by Ontario's Court of Appeal, "the courts will disregard the separate legal personality of a corporate entity where it is completely dominated and controlled and being used as a shield for fraudulent or improper conduct." In the legal world, this is known as piercing the corporate veil.

In an extreme case, X loaned money to Y through Y's corporation. The money was to be used to finance the purchase and renovation of properties in the Greater Toronto Area. Instead, Y used it to make investments outside Ontario, to fund his lifestyle and, amongst other things, to arrange X's murder once he realized he couldn't repay the debt. Here, the court found Y personally liable for the debt.

Piercing the corporate veil is also common in the family law realm. One "extraordinarily wealthy" husband had a history of sneakily structuring his affairs "so as to distance himself from his assets" in order to avoid compliance with child and spousal support orders. There too the court disregarded a corporation's separate legal entity and ordered that lands owned by the corporation be transferred to the wife.

While these cases are rather extraordinary, you should know that incorporation isn't some kind of super-shield that always protects you from personal liability. Keep this in mind when weighing the pros and cons. And if you are thinking about incorporating, make sure talk to a lawyer and an accountant. While the former will help you climb legal obstacles, the latter will help you crunch the numbers.
